Sale called at 10 a. m. C. F. Smith, auctioneer.

Some 20 members of the ladies and pastor's union of the Hedding church gathered at the home of Mrs. Eva Huse on Hill street about 8 o'clock Saturday evening, giving her a farewell party. The evening was pleasantly passed, during which Mrs. Huse was presented a leather traveling bag as a token of esteem from the company, the presentation being made by Rev. R. G. Lipsky, to which Mrs. Huse responded. The affair was a surprise to Mrs. Huse. Light refreshments were served. Mrs. Huse leaves Wednesday for Tampa, Fla., where she will spend the winter. She will be accompanied by her son, Arthur.

According to dispatches from Washington, D. C., dated Nov. 17, reports have been directed by the food administration to discontinue combination sales, complaints having been made that some retailers were refusing to sell sugar unless customers purchased from $1 to $2.50 worth of other commodities. The only exception to this rule is in the interest of wheat conservation and makes it possible for the dealer to sell sugar in combination with corn meal, at the rate of one pound of sugar with two of corn meal. Complaints which centered around alleged combination sales were made by housewives in Barre Saturday, when a few dealers made it incumbent upon a customer to make purchases aggregating 50 cents or $1 before sugar would be sold. Another dealer who received nearly three barrels of sugar, doled it out in two pound lots to everyone who asked for it. In no instance, it is said, did the dealers of Barre attempt to charge more than the normal price for the commodity.

To-day's snowfall buoyed up the waning hopes of hunters and while little time remained for deer slayers to push the season's toll up to the aggregate of last year, old hunters looked for a garri-son finish of a season in which nimrods have been far less successful than in former years. The deep snows of last winter are held responsible for the present dearth of venison, as it indicated every-where that many deer perished. A hunter who recently recently from Essex county quotes a native as saying that no fewer than 20 carcasses of deer which died in the snow were found on the upper Corrocton last spring. Among the hunters who succeeded in bringing down a deer toward the end of last week were: F. M. Little and son, who killed a 200-pound buck over in Orange; and E. H. Slayton, who met with success on Hard-wood mountain in Plainfield. Mr. Slayton's deer weighed close to 200 pounds. James K. Pirie, the well known Wil-lamstown quarryman, delivered his goods to-day when he returned from his hunting lodge on Niggerhead pond with a good-sized buck.

A large attendance marked the conclusion of the annual three days' bazaar Saturday evening at the Howland hall, under the auspices of Clan Gordon, No. 12, O. S. C., and the ladies' auxiliary. Business at the various booths continued brisk throughout the evening, while the shooting gallery in one corner of the hall was frequented from first to last with an eager crowd of marksmen, who seemed anxious to display their skill. Interest in the evening's program was centered in the highland dancing for adults, in which several were listed as participants. The judges selected to award the prizes consisted of William Barclay Scott, Kenneth Milne and George Robertson, while Eustace Ritchie acted as piper. The first prize was awarded to Robert Stewart, and Thomas McDonald was the winner of the second prize after a great deal of consideration, as the judges found it no easy task to decide the winners. The remainder of the evening's entertainment consisted of a delightful vocal solo by Miss Alice Walker, who being applauded very much and being obliged to respond to an encore, and an exhibition of highland reel dancing by Thomas McDonald, Robert Stewart, Reid Barclay and Leslie Mercer, the dancers being roundly applauded. From 9 o'clock until nearly midnight dancing was enjoyed, the music being furnished by Carroll's orchestra.

Ten Days' Thanksgiving Linen Sale

This Sale Closes the Night Before Thanksgiving

It is very hard work to make any kind of goods look cheap in these times, but we are to offer these Linens at a lower price than you can buy them on other markets. They are Bargains compared with present costs. This is a lot of Damask and Napkins we've been holding for this sale.

Thanksgiving Linen Sale

We are pleased to offer you such good Linen values at this time. It will seem good to you to be able to make such good purchases of Damask and Napkins.

We are going to make this a big sale by letting every customer have a chance to save a liberal discount on any piece of Damask, Napkins, Doilies, Tray Cloths and Crashes during this sale, and the following DAMASK BARGAINS:

One lot of two-yard-wide extra heavy Linen Damask in five beautiful patterns. These Damasks if bought to-day would have to retail for just $2.00 per yard. We have had them a long time at $1.75 per yard. If you buy these before Thanksgiving day, the price will be only $1.49 per yard.

Napkins to match above Damask that are in our stock to-day at $4.50 will be in this sale at $3.98 per dozen. You won't see this Damask sold again until this war is over at these prices. Buy what you may need. You won't be sorry.

Remember, that if you have Christmas packages that are to make a long journey, they should be on their way at once. Our Christmas goods are ready earlier than usual this season. The assortment is first-class to begin with, but will be rather poor at Christmas day. They cannot be duplicated later.

Russell A. Wentworth, who was locked up on an intoxication charge Saturday night, appeared before Magistrate H. W. Scott in city court this morning and acknowledged a first offense. The respondent's statement in a disclosure made to State's Atty. Earle E. Davis set forth his age as 17. Wentworth testified to being a student in a nearby collegiate institution and in the course of his disclosure he told of getting the liquor whereby he became intoxicated in local saloons. A fine of $5 and costs aggregating $8.35 were paid by the student.

More of the artful wiles practiced by J. Mowbray, clairvoyant, in garnering wampum from the willing continue to come under police notice, and while the cases of fraud which have been reported to the authorities are numerous, it is believed that a majority of the clairvoyant's patrons are maintaining a conspicuous silence. Over Sunday Mowbray increased his lead by some $150, the gift of a woman who called at the Summer street parlors because she sought a husband. Along with others whose experiences have been noted from time to time, the woman was entrusted with a rubberized roll supposedly containing $150. Her denouement came at police headquarters Saturday afternoon, when an examination of the roll disclosed more waste paper. The woman in the case resignedly abandons all hope of ever seeing Mowbray again and asks the police to retain her secret.

CHILD DROWNED.

When an Automobile Skidded Into a Pond.

Windsor, Nov. 19.—The automobile of Harry C. Daniels of Plainfield, N. H., skidded off the road and into Blow-Me-Down pond in the town of Cornish, N. H., yesterday afternoon and Mr. Daniels' daughter, Frances, nine, was drowned.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniels and their three children were returning home at the time of the accident. They met another car at a point where the highway skirts the edge of the pond, and in turning out to pass the other machine, the car skidded down the embankment and landed in the water. All of the occupants went under the water, but Frances was thrown under the thin ice and before she could be extricated she was drowned.

The child was carried to the home of E. Ellis Beaman nearby and three physicians from this town, about a mile distance, were summoned and they worked over the girl for several hours with a pulmotor but were unable to resuscitate her. Mr. Daniels is a prominent farmer of Plainfield.
